

SHEENA

LIMITED EDITION

First Act

Excerpted from Guitar Player magazine:

“...her downward-facing cutaway, extended headstock, arty chrome hardware, and cool black binding make her a unique creation.”

“The single coil in the neck slot dishes up meaty yet well-defined notes and chords, while the bridge humbucker is naturally much edgier...”

“...both pickups deliver substantial crunch and bite, and with the gain cranked up Sheena sings with a wonderful sweetness and sustain.”

“The guitar’s gentle body contours, “C” profile neck, and silky-smooth maple fretboard make her a pleasure to play...”

“... a very versatile guitar that sounds great and is lots of fun to play, even on long sessions...”

Controls include one tone and two volume knobs and a three-way pickup selector switch, with series/parallel switching on the bridge pickup. Shiny chrome hardware complements the custom black pickguard.

Our innovative low-profile bridge keeps individual string tones separate for a beautiful blend. A First Act single coil pickup on the neck and a First Act vintage classic humbucker on the bridge both feature hand-wound Alnico magnets.

The solid alder body is finished in transparent amber and tipped with a hand-rolled black binding.

A creamy birdseye maple fingerboard is offset by a single, hand-rolled black binding and jumbo fretwire. Black fin inlays adorn the frets.

A carved heel cradles the set neck for increased comfort and playability.

Meet Sheena — a rocking single-cutaway, solid-body electric from First Act's acclaimed Limited Edition line. As warm and mellow as buttered sun and as scorching as a flamethrower, Sheena is seriously versatile. She can go from clean and twangy to raw and raunchy in the blink of an eye.

First Act's chief luthier Kelly Butler drew on his Nashville roots to design this unique guitar. Growing up in the Music City in the early '80s, Kelly was surrounded by country and western music, and a burgeoning underground punk scene. Kelly created a guitar that embraces these divergent styles and delivers an extensive sound palette.

Every inch of Sheena is handcrafted, every detail perfected. Fine-tuned for superior tone, comfort, and precision.

Sheena's solid alder body is finished in a warm, transparent amber. The C-profile neck is flame maple with an ebony center, set into a carved heel for increased comfort and playability. The Birdseye maple fretboard is bound in black, and adorned with black fin inlays. Our own John McGuire designed the custom pickguard and six-in-line headstock. The single coil neck pickup and vintage classic humbucker supply thick, powerful sound. Our innovative low-profile bridge keeps individual string tones separate for a beautiful blend. The patented through-the-body string retainer enhances warmth and depth.

Sheena comes in a custom fit, road-ready case. Production is limited.

Make Sheena yours.
