

TREND ALERT Guitars

Music may be the universal language, but lately it's represented by one color—green. Everyone from drumstick manufacturers to audio outfits to music festival organizers has jumped on the eco-train, and now guitar makers are climbing aboard, too.

First Act's Bambusa is the first bamboo guitar on the market. And it's coated with a water-based finish and crafted with food-safe glue. Environmentalist and Guster front man Adam Gardner is a fan, and so are we. $400, firstact.com for retailers